

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Amend the specification paragraph beginning on page 3, at line 17, as follows:

This object and others are achieved by the invention of a method for electronic archiving of the data stream output by a computer in a printer ~~computer~~-specific data format that contains graphic and/or text information, whereby the data stream is converted from the printer-specific data format into a data format based on pixels, form data being distinguished from variable data in the data stream ~~based on pixels~~; and these two data types being respectively differently processed.